

A photograph of a modern building entrance. The central feature is a dark-stained wood pivot door with a vertical glass insert, which is slightly ajar. The door is set within a white, minimalist frame. On either side of the door, a cylindrical wall sconce is mounted, casting a warm glow. The surrounding walls are white and textured. To the left, some green foliage is visible. The ground in front is paved with light-colored stone tiles. The entire image is framed by a thin red border.
